

Emily Fischer Field

efischerfield@gmail.com
www.emilyfischerfield.com

Statement

Can one chart the process of transformation? What about creation... through different stages... despair, confusion, anxiety... the courage to begin again, overcome inertia... to exploring different avenues of possibility, in order to fit the pieces together so that one can share the "music" in a way people will hear.

...But how can we mirror the gorgeous and precise, albeit deceptively chaotic character of natural law? Where is the line between what's within and what's without? And how does one viscerally convey an alchemical process of internal change?

What if... a logic of epiphanies and equations could be constructed; connections, interactions and cycles identified, to pick up speed along the unstable ground towards meaning?

- Emily Fischer Field